U.R.IMPACT. Prioritizing social impact in urban regeneration, hereinafter referred to as 'the Project', which has been approved by the Monitoring Committee on 31st May 2023.

Between August 28-30, 2023, the city of Targu Frumos was represented at the summer university organized in Malmo in Sweden by the city manager, Udisteanu Marius, as part of the U.R.IMPACT project. Prioritizing social impact in urban regeneration

The URBACT University 2023 was a capacity-building event for current URBACT cities' representatives from all over Europe which took place in Malmö (Sweden) from Monday 28 August to Wednesday 30 August 2023. It was designed to equip up to 500 city practitioners involved in URBACT Action Planning Networks with competences useful for developing Integrated Action Plans to drive change in your cities. The training was delivered in English.

Since 2002, URBACT has been driving change all over Europe by enabling the cooperation and idea exchange amongst cities within thematic networks, by building the skills of local stakeholders in the design and implementation of integrated and participatory policies, and by sharing knowledge and good city practices.

URBACT is closely aligned with and contributes to the EU's priorities.

A key aim of URBACT IV is to "enhance the institutional capacity of public authorities". This contributes to sustainable urban development objectives and aims "*to reinforce the effectiveness of the EU's Cohesion Policy". URBACT has an officially recognised role to play in achieving Policy Objective 5 – bringing "Europe closer to citizens by fostering the sustainable and integrated development of all types of territories".

URBACT contributes to the partnerships of the Urban Agenda for the EU and the renewal of the Leipzig Charter with the concepts of green, just and productive cities, adopted in 2020 during the German Presidency of the Council of the EU. URBACT also collaborates with other programmes and organisations, including the European Urban Initiative, ESPON, INTERACT, INTERREG EUROPE, Horizon Europe, Council of European Municipalities and Cities, Committee of the Regions, to name a few.

As a part of its strategic partnership with the European Urban Initiative, URBACT also provides content to the Portico platform, a dedicated space to connect urban actors with the knowledge, people, and initiatives they need to implement sustainable urban development. It's an entry door for the European urban community to access the knowledge and skills.

URBACT's governance structure ensures that activities are transparent, efficient and meet the needs of European cities.

The European Commission (Directorate General for Regional and Urban Policy) oversees URBACT and guarantees activities continue to play a key role in the EU Cohesion Policy.

The Monitoring Committee, which is represented by the EU Member and Partner States, the European Commission, IPA Countries, the European Committee of the Regions and the Council of European Municipalities and Regions, defines the strategic direction of the URBACT programme and takes decisions about activities to be implemented. The members of the Monitoring Committee also exchange on the needs of cities, thematic priorities, programme links with European Urban Initiative and cohesion policy at national and European level. More information about the URBACT Monitoring Committee (rules of procedure, contacts, decisions) is available here.

The Managing Authority, hosted by the French National Agency for Territorial Cohesion (Agence nationale de la cohésion des territoires), is in charge of the management of the URBACT programme.

The URBACT Joint Secretariat, based in Paris (FR), implements the decisions taken by the Monitoring Committee. The Secretariat designs and delivers activities related to the objectives of the URBACT Programme.
